TIGER TURNS FITNESS TRAINER FOR FANS

When actor Tiger Shroff (above) made his debut in Heropanti alongside another newbie Kriti Sanon last year, besides his dancing and acting skills, his six pack abs also made news. Thanks to his fit physique, he got himself several fans as well. Now one hears that the fitness enthusiast is spending extra hours in the gym, not because he is working out extra hard, but because his gym mates, who are also his ardent fans, are taking exercising tips from him. According to a source, "With summer in, a lot of young people have joined the gym that Tiger goes to. And many of them have been asking Tiger for some fitness tips." "In fact, some of them have even asked him to make their workout schedule. And Tiger is only happy to oblige, as he loves seeing people taking up their fitness and diet so seriously," said the source. "Tiger, who himself is a fitness enthusiast, believes that everyone should love their body and follow a healthy and disciplined life," added the source.

Bieber, Gomez split over engagement ring debacle?

Singers Justin Bieber (inset, below) and Selena Gomez (left), who split in October 2014, reportedly tried to revive their relationship by giving it one last chance in December, when they checked out engagement rings at a jewellery store. A source told Life & Style magazine that a bystander at the store asked the two if they'd marry one day. Gomez said: "I hope so!", but behind her back, Bieber was "mouthing the word 'No' and motioned with his hand to his throat like a 'cut it out' sign, while shaking his head", the source explained, reports hollywoodlife.com. After her breakup from the Baby hitmaker, Gomez started dating DJ Zedd (inset, above). "She thinks Zedd is marriage material and perfect dad material. They've talked about kids and both of them want a big family. Selena says wherever they go, babies and little kids always gravitate towards Zedd because he's so silly and fun to be around. Plus, she says he's super patient," said another source.
